

NORMAL TRIMS MAYFIELD BOYS, SCORE 111 TO 0

Local Rugby Squad Simply Tramps on Visitors in Game Here.

CONTEST IS ONLY PRACTICE FOR CAPE

Coach Corleau of the Normal Reports the Game for The Tribune.

The Normal eleven crushed the team of the Will Mayfield in a game played yesterday at the Fairgrounds. The score was 111 to 0 in favor of the Normals. A fusillade of touch-downs was made by the latter while their opponents tried vainly to score. The Will Mayfield team was on the defensive from start to finish. This is probably the largest score ever piled up by any team on the local grounds. The coach of the Cape team reported the game for The Tribune, which follows:

By F. J. Courleau.

The Normal School eleven found itself yesterday afternoon at the Fairgrounds and buried its small adversaries under a shower of touch-downs. Seventeen touch-downs and 9 goals from touch-downs were the result of the "pep" the Normalites exhibited. The cause of this sudden display of fighting spirit may be attributed to the cold weather, but close friends of the players say the boys have had a great desire to feel the joy of romping rough-shod over some body else, just as the C. B. C. boys did to them in St. Louis. Every player on the team is happy today as each of them feels he played his part in rolling the largest score ever made by a Cape Normal team.

The team from Marble Hill was light and inexperienced and were on the defense up to the end of the game, but were at a loss to solve the over-head game of the Normals. Parker and Dudley, at ends, played a great game. Seven touch-downs were their lot, most of them from passes which they pulled out of the air and converted into points. Parker also added eight goals after touch-downs out of eleven tries. Parker's work is more noteworthy considering the fact that he has been suffering from a twisted knee all season.

The backfield, Ranney, Cline, Black and Latham, worked like a clock when on the offense. Black had the team on its toes from start to end, and used good judgment in selecting his plays, in getting the players to execute them.

Ranney, Cline and Black each got two touch-downs, while Latham got one besides the pleasure of sending "Zeppelins" into the outstretched hands of Parker and Dudley. Lahmeyer, Joyce and Creelius each scored one touch-down. Creelius, besides getting a touch-down, gave the spectators and the visiting team a chance to see real kicking. "Creely" had his trusty well-oiled, and on nearly every kick-off, sent the oval from 40 to 65 yards. His kicks were high and long, giving his teammates sufficient time to get near the fellow who was unfortunate enough to get it.

The visiting team made first down by pushing through the line. Their plays were usually smothered by the Cape team before well started, and if the man carrying the ball did get past the end, he met a worse fate. Ranney and Joyce had on their tackling clothes and received many well-earned comments on their hard, low, clean-cut tackling.

Marble Hill won the choice and was elected to kick. At 3:15 o'clock the ball got its start, and in eight rushes, the first touch-down was made; Cline got it. Just one minute before the game ended Creelius was shifted from center to left end. A long pass from Latham and "Creely" made the last touch-down. Between those two touch-downs and at the rate of one every three minutes or less, the other 15 were tallied.

Coach Zimmermann of Jackson refereed the game and kept both teams playing fast ball, allowing no time for arguments or "jawing."

Touch-downs—Cline 2, Black 2, Ranney 2, Parker 3, Dudley 4, Latham 1,

TWO FIRES IN 1 NIGHT DESTROYS SOUTH CAPE HOME

Building, Occupied by Harry Barringer on Fountain, Reduced to Ruins.

1ST BLAZE QUENCHED, 2ND TAKES BUILDING

Machen Residence on Bellevue Street Also Damaged by Afternoon Blaze.

Two fires in the Cape yesterday afternoon and last night kept the department occupied until after 4 o'clock this morning. The first alarm came from the Machen home on Bellevue street and the second from the southern part of the city.

The fire department returned shortly after 10 o'clock last night from 126 South Fountain street, where a conflagration in a residence had been extinguished. Three hours later the department was summoned back to the building, where the blaze had been rekindled.

The firemen made a record run to the scene, but the building was engulfed in flames when they reached the scene. For more than two hours the battle between the firemen and the conflagration raged, but the blaze was finally quenched. The home, however, was reduced to ruins. The total loss could not be estimated last night.

Chief French of the fire department told a representative of The Tribune that the fire was caused by an overheated furnace. He said every trace of the blaze had been extinguished before the department left the house early in the evening. He attributes the second blaze to some smoldering embers that were hidden in the walls and caused the flames to break out anew.

The home was occupied by Harry Barringer and family. The first blaze was discovered in the building shortly after 9 o'clock, while the Barringers were attending a picture show. The alarm was turned in by a pedestrian who happened to be passing. He saw smoke issuing from the windows of the upper story of the building and sounded an alarm.

The fire department made a quick run to the scene and soon had the blaze under control. A window was shattered with the nozzle of the hose and within less than five minutes the fire was supposed to be out.

The firemen examined the building to make sure that the fire was quenched, and when convinced that the blaze was out, they returned to the station. Only a small hole was burned in the floor of the kitchen by the first blaze. The second conflagration wiped out the household effects and destroyed the building. No one was injured.

Shortly before noon yesterday the home of H. L. Machen, 315 Bellevue street, which is occupied by his mother, was damaged by a fire that originated upon the roof.

The flames were confined to the upper part of the building but the water, which leaked into the house, damaged the interior of the building and household goods.

It is believed that the fire was caused by sparks that came from the chimney and fell on the roof.

WILD TURKEY FEAST AT FREEMAN'S CAFE

A wild turkey dinner—a spread with plenty of white meat, dark meat, cranberries, "stuffin'" celery, "French fries," more white meat and cranberries and then some more dark meat—last night formed the center of a dual celebration at the Crescent Cafe.

The banquet was a testimonial of Chris M. Freeman's accuracy with his shotgun and at the same time was in honor of the forty-third anniversary of City Clerk R. W. Frissell, who was a guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman were hosts at the long banquet table that was drawn up in their restaurant after their regular diners had been served.

The red-legged gobbler that became the center of attraction was slain virtually in the suburbs of the Cape. It was the third that Mr. Freeman brought down within 24 hours.

Last night as the large slices of white meat went the rounds of the table and here and there an enthusiastic diner brandished a "drumstick," Mr. Freeman told the story of how he bagged the gobbler. The bird, when dressed, weighed about twenty pounds and was one of the largest ever brought into the Cape. He shot it Friday morning.

"I got to the swamps—or rather where the swamps used to be located just across the big ditch below town," Mr. Freeman began, "and all I could hear was the din of wild turkeys. I seemed to be in the midst of a flock, but on account of the heavy underbrush and high grass, I couldn't see a single bird."

"I decided the only way for me to do was to make myself scarce, so I 'took cover' by getting flat on my stomach. I thought of the boys in the trenches as I started out to hunt that turkey."

"Then I fixed my attention upon one of the others and started crawling slowly and carefully in the direction of that bird. At various times I caught glimpses of red legs running away from me and I knew that I still was in the flock."

"At length, after I had crawled across the floor of that old swamp a distance equal to the distance from the restaurant down to where the old steam laundry is located, I got a fair view of the bird you now are eating. The bird was standing erect and appeared to be ready to run. I took no chances of getting close, but got my shotgun in action and aimed at the head. One was enough."

Mr. Freeman's shot virtually removed the wild turkey's head.

Mr. Frissell, who celebrated his birthday yesterday, is a native of the Cape. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Frissell and he has been City Clerk for the last year and a quarter. When he was requested last night to act as toastmaster, he eyed the white meat and cranberries and replied: "I don't like toast. Quit your foolishness and I'll take a second joint."

Those who were Mr. and Mrs. Freeman's guests were Frank Lawler, Elsie Daugherty, Elmer Stehr, H. N. Frissell, W. C. Guempel, Rella Fox, Louis Polack, Jacob Polack and G. P. Marsh.

Since Mr. Freeman's successes have been made known in the Cape, several hunting parties have been organized in the Cape to visit the turkey infested districts south of the city. Motorists who have arrived recently in the Cape after passing over the Rock Levee road declare that they have been able to see the wild turkeys from the road, and John Dohogne declared the other day he saw three in the roadway that refused to take flight when his auto approached.

WASEM EXPECTS TO BE HERE FOR X-MAS

The condition of H. C. Waseem, the well-known druggist of Hannibal, is improving so rapidly that it is believed he will be back home for a Christmas dinner. This was the contents of a telegram sent by Mrs. Waseem, who is at the bedside of her husband.

Mr. Waseem was operated on by Dr. Charles Mayo, the well-known surgeon of Rochester, Minn. He rallied rapidly and began to show signs of improvement immediately after the operation.

Mrs. Waseem, who has been with her husband since he went to Rochester two weeks ago, will be back some time next week. She states in the telegram, which was sent to the employees of the drug store, that she expects to be back in the Cape the first of next week.

Mr. Waseem is so confident of complete recovery that he remarked in the message, he intended to partake of a turkey feast when he returned to the Cape. For more than a year he has been on a diet of milk and eggs.

PRIEST EULOGIZES FATHER MURTAUGH

Life Long Friend of Dead Clergyman Says Death Had No Sting for Him.

An impressive ceremony, perpetuating the memory of Father James A. Murtaugh, was held yesterday morning at St. Vincent's Catholic Church, on South Spanish street. A large crowd from the parish attended the ceremony, which was marked by a beautiful tribute by Rev. Father Von Tourenhout of Ste. Genevieve, a life-long friend of Father Murtaugh.

The solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Levan, president of the college; Father Mulsieper, of Kelson, was deacon, and Father M. D. Collins, of Jackson, subdeacon. Father Walsh was the master of ceremonies, and Father Connors, therefore. A score of priests from the neighboring towns were in the sanctuary. Members of the Knights of Columbus attended in a body.

Father Von Tourenhout, a noted pulpit orator, chose the text, "Mihl vivere, Christus est, et mori lacrum," which means "For me to live is Christ and to die is gain." Guided by these words, Father Von Tourenhout touched on the life of the deceased and showed that his life was a positive proof of the Biblical quotation, which he chose as his theme.

He mentioned the universality of death sparing no one, coming at any time and conquering all. "Naturally death appears repulsive even to the Christian," he said. "To the atheist death is an explicable mystery, fearful and terrible, but not so to the Christian, as Christ teaches that there is a better world after this one. This belief made St. Paul cry out: Oh, death where is thy sting; oh, grave where is thy victory? Christ robbed death of its sting."

Father Von Tourenhout then turned to the life of his late friend, whom he described as a religious leader, as an educator, as a missionary, and above all, as a priest who lived as Christ decreed, and therefore, for him death had not sting. In conclusion the speaker said: "All glorify the war hero who goes forth conquering nations and cities, but at the same time causing destruction and making widows and orphans. How very much more praise-worthy the educator, the missionary or the priest who builds up and strengthens instead of tearing down and destroying."

"Much might be said of Father Murtaugh's efforts towards civic improvement and social progress, especially here in Cape Girardeau, and about many other things that he attempted and accomplished, but after all, his great work was his spiritual work to the souls of men. His work as a Catholic priest certainly after his many years of priestly service he could say: 'For me to live is Christ and to die is gain.' Blessed are they who go and do in like manner."

"MAW" COOPER HAS BIRTHDAY TODAY

Two Turkeys and the Trimmings Quartet Music to be Features at Party.

Mrs. Ollie Cooper, known all over the Cape and Southeast Missouri as "Maw" Cooper, together with her "boys" today will celebrate her birthday. Her age? Why, that's the secret!

Two turkeys, worlds of cranberries, stuffing, mashed potatoes, gravy, probably two kinds of cake and all the other "trimmings" that go to make up one of those historic feasts at her little boarding house on Themis street, will be the program.

"Maw" and her assistants in cooking per excellence, have been planning the birthday dinner for weeks. Some of her "boys" from all parts of Southeast Missouri have been looking forward to the birthday with visions of another pre-Thanksgiving Day dinner, when they will gormandize themselves.

Herman Wolf, who will be on hand to aid "Maw," already has arranged for a large yellow chrysanthemum to wear in her hair, and a musical program has been arranged.

Harvey "Telephone" Hooper, "Scrappy" Ruehmann, Oliver "Doc" Edwards, better known as "Little Boy," and Ed Moore, known as "Old Cemetery," will form a quartet and sing German melodies. Albert E. "Newlywed" Vogel-sanger will play the accompaniment on the piano.

Among those who will dance are Emil Wolters, A. R. Zoelsmann, Eddie Theiford, L. S. "Rombauer" Kerren, Fred A. Groves and others.

"Maw" Cooper has lived all her life in the Cape and she has been since the "steamboat" days. For the last eight years she has been giving hungry men "three squares a day," and the fame of her cooking is known in many States outside Missouri.

GIRL, DRESSED AS A MAN, HELD IN SOUTH

Stenographer Says She Became a Hobo to be With Pugilist She Loves.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 17.—Vera Harrison, 18 years old, dressed in a boy's suit, told while occupying a cell in the Memphis jail how she had "hoboed" all the way from Houston, Tex., to this city posing as a man.

She was in love with Terry Ketchell, a prize fighter, and when she found he was coming north she decided to accompany him. He had no money. He told her he was going to "hobo." Undaunted, she procured a suit of male attire and one night boarded a freight train in the Houston yards. The couple made their way northward, frequently being put off trains. At Anniston, Ketchell got work in a munition factory. After a few weeks Ketchell decided to come to Memphis, where he heard he could probably get a bout with a local fighter. He was looking for the sportsman when a policeman noticed the form of his companion, concluded "it" was a woman and placed them under arrest. The girl said she had been married to Norris Ela, mate on a steamer.

"Terry is a prize fighter," said the girl. "He licked the champion lightweight of Texas and beat Jimmy Pappas, the Greek. Terry is the best boy in the whole world. He loves me and I love him, and some day when we both get out of here, we're going to get married. Terry's been a father and a big brother to me ever since we left and started hobbing."

"We've hopped freight trains together, ridden the blind baggage together, camped in the woods, and he always has been the same boy. He has protected me from other tramps on freight trains, bought me food when he didn't have enough money to buy anything for himself, and stood by me all the way through."

"I am a stenographer. I worked at Swift & Co's plant in Galveston until I married Norris Ela. I didn't marry him because I loved him; it was simply to get away from home, where my mother and father treated me mean. Terry advised me to stick to my husband. My father took me to San Antonio, Tex., to break up the attachment between us, but I left and joined Terry at Houston."

KINDER WILL OPPOSE KAGE IN THE SPRING

James A. Kinder, the Haarg druggist, is going to be a candidate for Mayor at the April election, according to the reports from every quarter of the city. He has not publicly stated whether he would make the race, but his close friends say he has given them his promise to run.

His entry will eliminate Cito Kochitzky, who had been counted on to make another effort to land the job. He was defeated two years ago, but it was generally understood that he would try again.

Most of the Kochitzky following of two years ago have lined up for the Haarg man. Kinder was formerly chairman of the Democratic County Committee.

Friends of Mayor Kage have been urging him to come out for re-election, and while it is believed that he will run again, he has not so officially declared his intentions.

Councilman Medley last night stated that he had conferred with Mayor Kage concerning the campaign in the spring, and he is convinced that the Mayor will make the race.

Four members of the City Council are also to be elected next spring. The councilmen whose terms expire are: Walter D. Black, first ward; Charles Armgardt, second; Charles Kaess, third; Jay A. Fowler, fourth.

Mr. Armgardt, who has announced himself as a candidate for Chief of Police, will be eliminated from the race for council. Roscoe O'Connell, it is said, will be a candidate for council in the first ward. Mr. Black was once quoted as saying he would not run again, but his friends have urged him to make the race. Mr. Fowler has not decided whether he cares to run for office again. In the event that he decides to step out, Capt. J. L. Stout will be a candidate for the council in the fourth ward. His friends have been urging him to enter the political arena for several years, but he has never consented to do so.

ARMLESS MAN HERE, DRIVING BIG AUTO

Ohioan is Expert Chauffeur and Writes With His Mouth.

Frank E. Fithen, an armless automobile wonder, arrived in the Cape yesterday afternoon, accompanied by his wife. They came here in their scarlet-red luxurious "Oakland-Six, Speedster" in which they are making their third tour of the United States.

The armless wizard attracted quite a crowd as he stopped on the street corners and demonstrated his skill in chauffeuring an automobile with the stumps of his arms. These are cut off above the elbow.

The steering wheel of the machine is made for the specific use of the armless man. There are several rings in the wheel, and in these he holds his arms while operating the car. To show his certainty and cleverness in running his automobile, Fithen gave a demonstration of quick stops, backing up and slow driving. After each demonstration he would offer photographs of himself and wife for sale.

His skill in motoring without arms does not limit his cleverness. He writes as good a hand as a trained penman, and he writes with his mouth. He will push the pencil or writing utensil between his teeth and write anything just as well as any other person would with the use of his hands.

Fithen, who is stopping at the St. Charles Hotel, is on his third trip through the United States. His native town is Steubenville, O., where he and his wife reside. He lost his arms in a railroad wreck when only nine years old.

The couple intend to leave the Cape this morning. They will go to Dyersburg, Tenn., where they expect to arrive this evening. They stored their machine in Black's garage on Broadway.

MILK IN WINTER

Why do your cows give less milk in winter than they do in summer? Just because nature does not supply them with grasses and green food. But we have come to the assistance of Dame Nature with B. A. Thomas' Stock Remedy which contains the very ingredients that the green feed supplies in season, only, of course, in a more highly concentrated form. We guarantee that this remedy will make your cows give more milk, and better milk, with the same feed.

WONDERS DEFEATED BY WIZARD BOWLERS

Earl McClintock Plays Star Role in Opening Game, but Slumps Under Pressure.

The Wizards, one of the new teams in the bowling league, last night trimmed their opponents, the Wonders, to the tune of three games in succession. It was the first match game for most of the men who made up the two teams and both teams went to the alleys with blood in their eyes.

Earl McClintock, the midget crack shot of the Wonders, helped to bring his team's score into the big league class with a mark of 180 in the first game, but he was unable to hold the pace throughout the match and his efforts failed to win the contest.

The game last night completes the first round of a 20-week tournament among the six teams that have been organized and the winners have been the Royals, the Ideals and the Wizards.

Many of the men who bowled last night have taken the big round ball into their hands for the first time this fall and show evidence of developing into first-class men.

The score was as follows:

Wizards—	1	2	3
J. Hawn	147	147	144
F. Handl	119	126	162
A. Brunke	187	188	180
A. Koepfel	137	154	169

MERCHANTS CALL OFF ELECTRICAL PARADE

Uncertain Weather Will Make Street Pageant Impossible During Week of Dec. 2 to 9.

An electrical parade, formed of automobiles decorated with colored electric lights, each laden with the Cape's prettiest girls, as well as floats representing various trades and manufacturing interests in the city, last night was abandoned by the members of the Retail Merchants' Association, on account of the bad and uncertain weather conditions.

Members of the association at their regular meeting last night at the Commercial Club rooms discussed the proposition of having the parade and determined, after canvassing the situation, that the parade will be impracticable.

Each of the association members will do all in their power to make the celebration of Electrical Week, Dec. 2 to 9, a success in their individual establishments, by the addition of electrical displays in their windows and interior decorations for their stores.

The celebration of Electrical Week is a national movement now and was boosted in the Cape by a representative of the Society for Electrical Development who visited here a few weeks ago. He met the members of the retailers' association with A. M. Tinsley, local manager of the Public Utilities Company, who will take an active part in the celebration of the event in this city.

The Public Utilities office will be decorated with a unique electrical display on the interior as well as exterior of the office.

The association last night postponed the election of their officers until the next regular meeting which will be held in December. Much of the time at the meeting last night was devoted to a round-table discussion of fall trade extension, advertising and shop talk among the merchants.
